Judge Samuel I. Rosenman presented his papers to the Library during the years 1952 through 1972.

An additional accession was received from his widow, Dorothy Rosenman in January, 1977. Mr. Rosenman's copyright interest in these papers has been donated to the United States Government.

Quantity: 34 linear feet (approximately 68,000 pages)

Restrictions: These papers contain documents restricted in accordance with Executive Order 11652, and material that might be used to embarrass, harass, or injure living persons has been closed.

Related Material: Transcript of interview with Judge Rosenman conducted by the Columbia University Oral History Project.

Rosenman's papers relating to his service as Special Counsel to President Truman (NUCMC 65-135) are among the holdings of the Harry S. Truman Library in Independence, Missouri.

Samuel Irving Rosenman was born on February 13, 1896, in San Antonio, Texas. After graduating from Columbia Law School, he was admitted to the New York Bar in 1920. He served as a member of the New York State Legislature from 1922 to 1926 and then became the State's legislative bill drafting commissioner. In 1929, he was appointed Counsel to Governor Franklin Delano Roosevelt. He held this position until 1932 when he was chosen by Roosevelt to fill a vacancy on the New York Supreme Court. He was reappointed to the Bench the following year and was later elected to a 14-year term. During the period of his judgeship, Rosenman often traveled to Washington to assist in preparing President Roosevelt's speeches. He also edited The Public Papers and Addresses of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Volumes I through V which covered the Governorship and first Presidential administration were published in 1938; the next four volumes appeared in 1941. Rosenman was also an advisor to the President on war manpower, housing, information services, and inflation, resigning as Justice in 1943 to become Special Counsel to President Roosevelt. He accompanied Roosevelt on his inspection trip to the Pacific Coast and Hawaii in the summer of 1944 and in February of the next year the President sent him to Europe to survey the problems of providing supplies to the civilian populations of liberated areas. After Roosevelt's death, Rosenman remained as Special Counsel to President Truman until January, 1946. He then took up private law practice with the firm of Rosenman, Goldmark, Colin and Kaye in New York City. Later he served on several Presidential fact-finding boards. He edited the last four volumes of Roosevelt's Public Papers, published in 1950, followed by his memoir, Working with Roosevelt (1952). Judge Rosenman died on June 24, 1973, in New York.

Related files from different accessions have now been arranged together and material from the miscellaneous White House folders has been placed in either the correspondence or subject file. Approximately two-thirds of the collection is material accumulated during the editing of The Public Papers and Addresses of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Much of this consists of galley proofs and copies of Roosevelt speeches and press conferences. The papers also contain correspondence, telegrams, memoranda, reports, speech drafts and printed and processed material related to Rosenman's service under President Roosevelt as advisor and speechwriter, mainly 1941 - 1945. There are a few items from the period when Rosenman was Special Counsel to President Truman but there is no material connected to Rosenman's position as Justice of the New York Supreme Court. Post-1945 material is mainly concerned with the publication of Working With Roosevelt and the last four volumes of the Public Papers.

The papers are arranged in eight series:

1. General Correspondence, 1930 - 1972:

Correspondence, memoranda and telegrams to and from Federal officials, members of Congress and private individuals. Includes memoranda to and from President Roosevelt regarding executive orders and legislative matters, correspondence in reply to questions raised by Mrs. Roosevelt, correspondence with his wife Dorothy while away on campaign trips and during his Mission to Europe, and correspondence with Robert Sherwood of the Office of War Information in London. Also correspondence regarding speeches or policy matters with Bernard M. Baruch, James M. Byrnes, Oscar Cox, Felix Frankfurter, Harry L. Hopkins, and Isador Lubin. Arranged alphabetically by surname of correspondent. Containers 1 - 4.

2. Subject Files, 1930 - 1952:

Correspondence, telegrams, reports, memoranda, speech drafts and printed and processed material, mainly 1941 - 1945. Correspondence with Federal officials and private citizens dealing with the consolidation of housing agencies into the National Housing Agency, and the establishment of the Office of War Information and the Office of Economic Stabilization in 1942, the enforcement of anti-trust laws during the war, the draft and deferment policies of the Selective Service Board, the provision of plant facilities for war workers, and other national issues. Also material used in the Presidential campaigns of 1936, 1940 and 1944 and material used in writing Working with Roosevelt. Material from the years 1933 - 1940 may also be found in the subject file created for use in annotating The Public Papers and Addresses of Franklin D. Roosevelt (series 5). Arranged alphabetically by subject. Containers 5 - 18.

3. Material for F.D.R. Speeches and Messages, 1923 - 1945

Speech material and drafts of speeches which Rosenman worked on, frequently assisted by Robert Sherwood and Harry L. Hopkins. Certain files contain successive drafts with insertions and corrections, revealing the evolution of policy speeches. Some of the folders also have reports, memoranda, and tentative drafts from agencies and executive departments concerned with the content of the speech. Arranged in chronological order. Drafts of these and other Roosevelt speeches may also be found in the Speech File and PPF 1820 of the President's Papers. Containers 19 - 27.

4. Rosenman Mission to Liberated Areas of Northwest Europe, 1945:

The Mission, headed by Rosenman with the rank of Minister, was composed of representatives of the State Department, Treasury Department, Foreign Economic Administration, and Army. They were directed to investigate both the immediate and long-term needs of the liberated countries of Northwest Europe for food, coal, transportation and other supplies. The Mission members conferred with representatives of the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxemburg, Norway and Denmark and made inspection trips in the United Kingdom and on the Continent. A final report was made to the President of the United States on April 26, 1945. While in Europe with the Mission, Rosenman also held discussions with British authorities on procedures for the trials of Nazi war criminals.

Correspondence, cablegrams, reports, memoranda, and minutes of meetings. Arranged alphabetically by subject. Containers 28 - 30.

5. The Public Papers and Addresses of Franklin D. Roosevelt:

Correspondence and memoranda concerning the editing and publication of the Public Papers and Addresses, 1937 - 1950. Also correspondence with Federal offices requesting information for use in annotating the 1933 - 1940 volumes of the Public Papers, arranged alphabetically by subject, 1937 - 1941. Copies of Roosevelt speeches, press conferences, and executive orders, used in compiling the Public Papers. Other material related to the Public Papers and Addresses is arranged in Series 8. Containers 31 - 48.

6. Printed Material:

Includes articles by and about Samuel I. Rosenman and articles about Franklin D. Roosevelt. Arranged chronologically, 1929 - 1949. Container 49.

7. Memorabilia:

Includes invitations, programs, tickets, and souvenirs from Rosenman Mission. Containers 50 - 52.

8. Other Material re the Public Papers and Addresses:

Gally proofs, copies of material used in the Public Papers, and copies of material not used in the volumes. Also scrapbooks of clippings about the Public Papers and copies of articles derived from the notes in the volumes. Arranged according to type of material and thereunder chronologically. Containers 53 - 115.
